THE NEEDHAM
Musical Cabinet

PRICE, $50.

DESCRIPTIVE CIRCULARS FREE.

THIS new and wonderful Instrument enables any one, whether understanding music or not, to play any desired melody or harmony, sacred or secular, from the most plaintive dirge to the most lively dance music. It possesses a mechanism of marvelous simplicity, requiring but the intelligence of a child to manipulate, yet capable of reproducing, without limitation, the musical compositions of the PAST, PRESENT and FUTURE. The execution is faultless, strict in melody, harmony and rhythm, and the instrument is eminently adapted for Sunday Schools, prayer and revival meetings, home devotional exercises, and in all cases where good, correct music is required, and no musician is at hand to perform. The Tale of the Terrible Fire.

I will tell you a tale of the terrible fire:
It springs from the earth—it is dreadful and dire,
In the dark
Wintry sky,
See the spark
Upward fly;
See it glow
Into flame!

See it burning and blazing
See it spring into life
With a vigor amazing—
How it longs for the strife!
Hear the noise and rattle—
How it swells, how it grows,
Like the crash of a battle,
Like the clash of the foes!

See it rushing and rising and roaring,
See it trying to touch a tall star;
It seems in the sky to be soaring
Like a flag of fierce flame from afar.
See it turning and burning and braving—
See it streaming and gleaming and red!
Ah! the smoke in the air now is waving,
Like a winding-sheet of dull lead.

How it laughs with wild glee at each futile endeavor
To quench or to quell its exuberant force:
It is flaming and free and fantastic forever;
It delights and exults with no pang of remorse,
With no pain, with but passion—mad passion—it quivers
With its pennon of scarlet, the bloodest hue,
With its gleaming streams and its roaring rivers,
It dares to do all things that flame dare do.

How it darts, how it dances and dashes,
As though it had taken for aim,
To reduce all the world into ashes
And to fling all the stars into flame!
It is glittering and glowing and glaring—
And raging it rings its own knell;
It is showing its wonderful daring—
It is turning the sky into hell!

How it lazily lingers
With its swell and its fall;
With its fiery fingers
Weirdly waving a pall;
With its horrible hisses,
Like the wind in a storm;
With its blistering kisses,
On face and on form!
Of its flashes
Bereft,
Only ashes
Are left;
Till its cries
Tell its doom—
And it dies
In the gloom.

I have told you the tale of the terrible fire;
It has sung its last song to its luminous lyre—
It has sung its last song, it has breathed its last breath,
It had lived without life, it has died without death.

Idiosyncracies of Men of Genius.

Most geniuses and men of great talent have been known for some peculiar habit or striking idiosyncrasy. Napoleon would tremble for fear at the sight of a cat. General Elliot, of Gibraltar fame, was always accompanied by a number of them. Johnson liked to imbibe floods of tea or wine, and yet be none the worse for it. Porson drank everything that came in his way. Visiting once a friend's house, when evening came they desired to feed the lamp, but the bottle was empty. Porson had drank the spirits on the sly, not knowing it was intended for the lamp. Douglas Jerrold could not bear the smell of apples. Cavendish hated women. If he met one of his own female servants by accident in any part of the house she was instantly dismissed. Garrick was vain almost to the degree of insanity. Rousseau was vain, and could not write except when dressed as a fop. Bulwer Lytton, it is said, could write best when dressed in a court suit. Marlborough was a miser, mended his own stockings to save paying for it, and would walk home ever so late at night, rather than pay for a "chair." Napoleon did his "thinking" and formed his plans for conquest while pacing in a garden, shrugging his shoulders now and then as if to help and "compress" thought. When Thiers was engaged in his long oratorical displays, he always had beside him a supply of rum and coffee. The coffee he got direct from Mocca. Gibson dictated while walking in his room, like Scott and many others. Moliere wrote with his knees near the fire, and Bacon liked to study in a small room, which, he said, helped him to condense his thoughts. George Stephenson used to lie in bed two or three days, the better to "think out" his plan. It would be better, if many people would do this who have much thinking to do, as rest favors abstraction and thought, and those who have not a vigorous circulation find the supply of blood to the brain assisted by a recumbent position.—London World.

The Earl of Beaconsfield is one of the best dressers in England; he has on the average a plug hat a month, his trousers are usually of a light lavender, and his coats perfection in fit. His valet is scrupulous about the arrangement of his curls, which are numbered; in gorgeous dressing gowns his wardrobe is not to be surpassed; one of them is worth $3,000. He walks with his eyes cast on the ground, and takes no heed of the little ragamuffins who cry: "There goes Dizzy."

How to get along in the world—walk.

A Trip Abroad.

Since my return from Europe a large number of persons who contemplate a visit to the Paris Exhibition during the present year have desired me to give them some idea of the probable cost of the journey. To each one a uniform reply has been given, and the first words were, "You can make it cost just what, in reason, you like." And it is so. A man can spend $1,000 in a month's travels, and another can suit himself just as well for one fifth of the money. My own experience, based on a ten days' visit to Paris during the Exposition of 1867, is that you can live remarkably cheap in that delightful city. During my visit in January last to the Capital of France I was careful to inquire as to the probability of an increase in hotel rates. At a magnificent hotel, in every respect, a handsomely furnished, well lighted room cost me six francs ($1 20) per day, and a dinner, including vin ordinaire, a similar amount. But, as in London, the better plan is to take your meals out as the French people generally do.—For ten francs ($2) per day a man can live well. But to give a clearer idea of the total cost of such a journey, it may be as well to start out with the theory that we propose to be absent two months or sixty days. Eighteen days of this will be upon the ocean, and for the round trip the cost need not be more than $120. On the arrival at Liverpool, the docks, and other places of interest have to be seen, which will occupy two days, the cost of living per day being ten shillings, with four shillings added for omnibus and cab fare, $7; from Liverpool to Manchester, where two more days are spent at the same rate; then directly to London, the fare being $5, occupying a portion of one day. In London there is a multitude of sights of interest to be looked up. There is the Crystal Palace, British Museum, Alexandra Park, Zoological Gardens, National Gallery, Houses of Parliament, the Tower of London, etc. Here, to do the thing up in any kind of way a sojourn of at least ten days should be made.—This involves an expense of $30 for living (it can be done for less, and well done too), and an additional $7.50 for omnibus hire. Then comes the trip to Paris. The return ticket from London to Paris will be, in American money, $18 75, and which is available for one month. The journey to Paris usually occupies from ten to eleven hours, so that one full day may be allowed in going and coming. Then a stay of fifteen days should be made in Paris, and the visitor, if he be prudent, can do admirably as to lodging and living upon $2.75 per day, or $41.25; and adding to this ten days to the Exhibition, one franc each time, brings $43 25, with $10 added for conveyance, brings Paris to cost $53 25. During this time if disposed, a trip can be made to Geneva Lake at a cost of $15. This brings us back to London, with eleven days to spare. A trip to the Isle of Wight, a run to Scotland, and thence down through Ireland, joining the steamer at Queenstown, can be hastily done at an average cost of $7 per day—a total of $77—and then we find ourselves on board the steamer again, without anything further to pay than the stewards. This brings a total of $340, and allowing the extravagant sum of $60 for waiters, etc., the grand result is $400 for a sixty days journey. This estimate is put at top figures so that there shall be nothing ridiculous in its appearance; but your readers may rest perfectly satisfied that a trip to Paris, properly managed, and an absence of sixty days need not cost any single individual more than $340.—Providence Journal.

A good story is told of a church dignitary in an old English cathedral city. He is very deaf, and when he goes out to dinner, fortifies himself with an ear trumpet. Recently, some early peas from Scilly were being served, and the dignitary, astonished at the sight of them, asked the man servant a question about them, and put up his trumpet to receive the answer. The servant had never seen an ear-trumpet before, and thinking that the dignitary had invented a new sort of dish, poured the peas, butter and all, into the trumpet. If the dignitary did not swear he showed himself an exemplary Christian.

Every plant according to its particular individuality, appropriates such elements of the soil as it requires or are suitable for its growth and maturity, rejecting all others.

"Pa," said a little four-year old, "there's a poor man out there that would give anything to see you." "Who is it, my son?" "It's a blind man."

The butcher who sells ox-tails for soup and calves' heads for dinners undoubtedly makes both ends meet.

Victoria's Proposal to Prince Albert.

"Certainly the young Queen thought less of England than of marriage. The Ministers would fain have made her marriage a sort of international treaty, beyond all doubt Victoria was the finest match in the world. The Queen however, was full of a host of little projects, ever shifting and changing like the little heaps of sand the children raise in the garden of the Luxembourg. She told her mother she would wed no one whom she did not love. The Duchess of Kent repeated the speech to the Ministers, who thought it revolutionary in the extreme. Coronation day came, and the next day the ball at Windsor. Among the dancers was a tall, handsome, slender student from the University of Bonn—her cousin—a Coburg, like herself. The Queen noticed him, and Prince Albert did not return to Bonn. Even had he not loved he would have stayed; and he loved. But his cousin was the Queen! Here the woman had to make the advance. Victoria, deeply touched as she was by his love (which was never more to leave her), could not easily conquer the maidenly timidity due to her severe education. Nevertheless the morning came. I assure you I invent nothing. Although the Queen has not consented to relate these delightful incidents, Prince Albert has told them to his friends.

"Nevertheless, then a morning came. They were riding together, he and she, down the great avenue of oaks at Windsor. These oaks were young then, but old enough already. After a gallop they found themselves alone. We know how dangerous it is for man and woman to ride alone together. Suddenly the Queen took a sprig of honeysuckle from her bosom, and, stooping, offered it to Prince Albert. Bending to reach it his lips touched the tips of his cousin's gloves. Perhaps 'twas the fault of the horses. The woods of England and France know well how many lovers the noble brutes have been the cause of. A silence followed, more sweet than anything ever sung to the heart of Mozart.

"Next morning Prince Albert still wore the honeysuckle in his buttonhole. He kept it even when it had faded. A fortnight after that ride the plenipotentiary Minister handed King Leopold, of Belgium, a tiny letter, closed by an enormous red seal, as though it had a mighty secret at stake. It began: 'My Dear Uncle,' and was signed 'Victoria.'

"A month later the Queen announced her intention to marry Prince Albert, of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, to her Ministers. She asked their counsel with a pretty air of decision which caused them to reply with a unanimous 'Yes.' The wedding took place on the 10th of February, 1839. The Queen of England married for love—like a Bourgeoise, I was going to say, but the Bourgeoises marry but little for love now. Lord Melbourne was right when he told England that the Queen's marriage was the Queen's romance."

The African Honey-Bird.

The honey-bird is about as large as a gray mocking bird, and is of similar color. It endeavors to attract the attention of travelers, and to induce them to follow it. When it succeeds thus far it almost invariably leads the person who follows to a nest of wild bees. While on the route, it keeps up an incessant twittering, as if to assure its follower of success, and often alights on the ground or a bush, and looks back to see if the person is still in pursuit. The native Africans, when conducted by the bird, frequently answer its twittering with a whistle as they proceed, for the purpose of signifying to their conductor that they are still following it. When the bird arrives at the hollow tree, or other place where the honey is deposited, it hovers over the spot, points at the deposit, with its bill, and perches on a neighboring bush or tree to await its share of the plunder. This is the usual termination of the adventure. But sometimes the honey-bird seems to be actuated by a love of mischief, and then instead of leading the traveler to a bees' nest, it conducts him to the lair of some wild beast, and then flies away with a twittering which sounds a good deal like laughter. Gordon Cumming, "the lion killer," once followed a honey-bird which conducted him to the retreat of a huge crocodile; and, having introduced the traveler to this august presence, the little feathered joker took a hasty leave, evidently much delighted with the success of his trick.

An exchange says; "It is funny that when you ask a man to advertise, he generally declines with the statement that nobody will see it. But if you advertise some little caper of his in the news column gratis, he gets indignant over the certainty that everybody will see it."

Hydraulic Practical Jokes.

When Catherine II. and her successors amused themselves at Peterhoff, the water power was taken into service to play practical jokes on the unwary people, which cannot be called enjoyable. In one retired nook there stands a gigantic mushroom, large enough to have a bench around its stem. As soon as anybody undertakes to seat himself upon it the water streams out of the whole periphery of the spreading top, inclosing the captive in a splashing cylinder. To rise again stops the flow of water, but people have not always presence of mind to think of that. In another secluded spot there is what is called the "Lovers' Seat," and here I came upon a poor boy in rathe a disagreeable plight. Under a spreading elm, the branches of which are artfully interwoven with water-pipes; there stands a bench, just wide enough for two, with a bed of flowers in front, contains some artificial and some natural shrubs and two huge cast iron thistles. Some fun-loving individuals had enticed the boy to sit down there and turned on the water, which was pouring over him from all directions, from the branches of the elm, the back of the bench, and from every branch and thorn of the shrubs. It must be an ardent lover indeed that would survive such a dousing. In the boy's case there was no tender flame to overcome, and he bounced from his seat with a yell and fled across the park, his cowhide boots causing sad havoc among the flower beds, while his dripping garments secured him plenty of elbow-room wherever he struck a gayly dressed crowd.

THE ORIOLE.—The oriole, which has acquired the reputation of being a mournful bird, is thus spoken of by an observer of a domesticated specimen:

"An old bird which should happen to be trapped would probably quit singing on being deprived of liberty, but one caught young and fed from the human hand, will make a most delightful and tractable pet, and, happiest when surrounded by people, will sing marvelously sweet notes and trills. We know one of this sort, that, when liberated from its cage will go to the hand of its owner assist in threading a needle, or ripping a seam, nestle on her shoulder, stand on her hand, bathe in a bowl of water, and when it has had its liberty of the premises to its heart's content, it will go back into its cage and sing its merry tune.—It will eat fruit, cake, bread and milk, potatoes and sugar, lean meat, nuts and eggs, and is especially fond of house flies and small angle worms and insects, and will catch anything tossed to it just as a smart dog will a cracker.—Talk about that bird being mournful!"

IMPORTANCE OF A CLEAN SKIN.—Most of our invalids are such, and millions of more healthy people will become invalids, for the want of paying the most ordinary attention to the requirements of the skin. That membrane is too often regarded as a covering only, instead of a complicated piece of machinery, scarcely second in its texture and sensitiveness to the ear or the eye. Many treat it with as little reference to its proper functions as if it were nothing better than a bag for their bones. It is this inconsideration for the skin that is the cause of a very large proportion of the diseases in the world. If, as claimed by some scientists, four-fifths, in bulk, of all we eat or drink, must either pass off through the skin or be turned back upon the system as a poison, and that life depends as much upon these exhalations as upon inhaling pure air through the lungs, it must be of the most vital importance to keep that channel free.

A strange scene was witnessed at Willimantic, Conn., on Saturday, when the Willimantic thread company paid off its help in gold coin. The force of employes numbers 1,000, and most of them had never seen any gold coin, the company having paid its help in this currency before. There was a great excitement, among the poor people, and many of them, being suspicious of the "stuff," requested to have it exchanged for greenbacks. One woman, after receiving her pay, nineteen dollars, and counting it over, came back to the overseer with: "I've brought back the money. There's a dollar, a half dollar and some cents." The "cents" were five dollar and two and a half dollar gold pieces.—When she had received a roll of bills in exchange for the "cents" she went away happy.

The Democratic members of Congress pride themselves much on having a powerful scent for fraud; nevertheless, they took mighty good care to keep Cronin's nose out of the Potter investigation.

Americans are a great deal like potato bugs. They will go to Paris green.

Curious Legend.

The Irish have a curious legend respecting what they call "Blaiad na oze"; in other words, "The blossom of youth." The legend is this: An Irishman at one period went to Denmark, where he was hospitably received, much to his astonishment. He was taken into immediate favor by those among whom he visited. He was told that in a certain part of the county of Limerick, from which it appears he came, there was a crock of gold hidden under a white-thorn bush in a garden, which was so clearly pointed out to him that there could be no mistaking the locality. He was further told that among the gold was a remarkable circular piece or coin, with which he should return to Denmark, but that he might become the possessor of all the gold in the crock with the exception of that particular circular piece. The Irishman was obedient to the letter.—He returned to Denmark with the circular piece, and kept for himself all but that. The Danes were rejoiced. A very aged Dane, having been rubbed with the wonderful circular piece of gold, at once became young again, fresh and vigorous as in the days of his boyhood. So with other Danes. "You have brought back," said they, "Blaiad na oze,' the blossom of youth, and Ireland shall be poor evermore."

DIDN'T KNOW THE PLACE.—The little brown cottage in Springfield, Illinois, in which Mr. Lincoln lived before he went to Washington, still remains nearly as he left it, furniture and all. It is related that it had at first but one story, and that Mrs. Lincoln for many years unavailingly coaxed her husband to raise the roof. At length she seized an opportunity, when he was attending court in an adjoining town, to employ workmen and have the half story added, windows put in, paint put on, all completed—save payment of bills—before his return. Coming up the street, he comprehended the situation at a glance, but feigning bewilderment, and pretending not to recognize the old place, he walked past as if searching for a home, till his wife—who was watching behind the shutters, called after him: "Abrim! Abrim!"

A singular character has just died at Hartford, Conn. He was a man about fifty years of age and of some means, but of clouded intellect, who was every day seen upon the streets walking with downcast eyes, carefully removing from the sidewalks all stray pieces of orange peel and banana skin. It is said that in early life his lady-love broke her leg by slipping on a piece of orange peel, and eventually died from the effects of the accident. This affected his mind and led to his unselfish occupation for the rest of his life.

It is told of the late Thomas Winans, the millionaire inventor, that he began mechanical experiments in the nursery, building little railroads and running toy trains over them. His lost years were spent in such seclusion that many of his neighbors had not seen his face for twenty years. His grounds were surrounded by massive walls, ten feet high, built at the instance of the city council of Baltimore, in deference to the people, who objected, on moral grounds, to the splendid casts of famous antique statues which adorned his grounds.

A young girl was struck blind in Cleveland the other night. She went to bed with strong eyes, and in excellent health. During the night she felt "a sort of pricking" for a second or two about her eyes, and then a snap, as if something had broken. These sensations were accompanied by no pain, and after they had passed away there was no uncomfortable feeling about the eyes. In the morning she was stone blind.

"Just one," murmered he, involuntarily drawing closer to the luscious lips, that smiled upon him with such ravishing bewitchedness, while his own quivered in agony of expectant anticipation. "So I notice," replies she coolly, glancing at the clock, "and time for you to turn up your coat collar and shut the door from the outside." He went.—Danbury News.

It should be borne in mind that every farmer who will take the trouble to keep up a tasteful appearance about his house, not only performs a good work for his own family, but stimulates his neighbors to imitate him. Nothing is more contagious than the desire for gardening when once it gets a footing.

There is a French prophecy which says the end of the world will come when Easter Sunday falls on St. Mark's day. This will be the case in 1886.

SORE FOOT.—Our well known boot and shoemaker A. C. Livingston has an order to make a pair of boots for a Frenchman living near Garrote, Tuolumne county, and named Jean B. Defyent, the measure of whose foot is as follows: Length of foot 17¼ inches, toes 11½ inches instep 12 inches, heel 18 inches. The lasts that these boots are to be made over, were manufactured in Sonora by Gabriel Nau, and are undoubtedly the largest ever seen in these parts. Mr. L. has them on show at his store.—Can Tuolumne county, California, or even the United States beat this champion foot of J. B. Defyent? Only think, a foot and a half in length, with corresponding width. Price of the boots when finished, including the lasts, $26. —Sonora Independent.

Wm. Watt, a well-known miner and prominent citizen of Nevada county and the State, died at Lund's Hotel, North Bloomfield, on Saturday, from injuries received by being thrown from a carriage on Wednesday the 3d. Two of his thighs were broken by the accident, and inflammation of the bowels, supposed to be the result of internal injuries, set in which proved fatal. The funeral took place on Tuesday.

The coin balance in the Treasury is about $200,000,000, and steadily increasing. As there is no idea that this balance will fall below the present figure, this with the present low premium on gold, forms a basis of general anticipation that resumption will occur before January 1st.

A Washington dispatch says: It is probably that instructions will be issued this week to run the mints to their full capacity, and that the maximum amount of standard silver dollars authorized to be coined by the Silver bill, $4,000,000 per month, will be turned out at the mints for the next four months.

The Sierra Flume and Lumber Company have suspended all operations at Red Bluff, and at all their mills, and have suspended payment. The liabilities of the Company amount to over $2,000,000. This suspension will be a severe blow to the future prosperity of Red Bluff.

About 1,000 feet of snowshed, midway between Blue Canyon and Emigrant Gap, was burned Saturday afternoon, having become ignited from a fire which was prevailing in the woods near by. Trains were delayed several hours in consequence.

OUR INDIANS.

The startling rumor that spread like wildfire through our county last week, that Orville C. Wade and family, and Jonathan Oylear's wife, had been massacred by the Indians while en route to new homes in Oregon, brought the pending Indian war home to our own doors to the heart of every man, woman and child in our county, for the Wade's were among the oldest and most respected residents of Alpine; but about three weeks ago they took their departure for Oregon and it was feared that they had time to reach the Indian country, and that the report was true, more particularly as Alpiners know that the Bannock's have had agents among the Piutes and Washoes, urging them to unite in inaugurating a general Indian war. It would be well for the settlers in these mountains to be wary and not place too much confidence in the Washoes, who make their homes in Alpine. We do not fear any trouble on their account, but should the Bannock war be prolonged through the Summer and other tribes become involved, the Pintes and Washoes might become emboldened and feel inclined to take a hand in the performance. The selling of fire arms and ammunition to Indians should be discouraged, and the laws prohibiting such traffic should be enforced. Last Summer it was common to see drunken Indians in our midst. We hope that no such scenes will be witnessed here this season. It behooves every citizen of this county to see that the redskins get no liquor, and if any one is found giving them liquor should be summarily dealt with. It is true that the Indians here have been quiet and peaceably disposed, and perhaps they will continue so, but it will do no harm for the people of this section of the country to be watchful and wary, and more particularly if our troops in the Indian country should meet with reverses, as both the Washoe and Pinte tribes are in communication with their more warlike brethren, and none among us know what they might be incited to attempt if they had encouragement through the success of the Bannock's.

Mr. Sutro and a party of ladies and gentlemen informed Mr. Gillett, Superintendent of the Savage mine, by telegraph, that they would start from the mouth of the Sutro Tunnel to go up to the Savage shaft to Virginia City at 4 P. M., on Wednesday last. Mr. Gillette telegraphed that he would ask permission from the San Francisco office. When the party reached the Savage drift they were informed that permission would not be granted, and it leaked out that General Thomas H. Williams, President of the Savage Company, no doubt acting under instructions from the bonanza firm, refused the passage of Mr. Sutro and party. Mr. Sutro thereupon managed to get up the shaft in spite of the refusal, and succeeded in reaching the surface at Virginia City. At a banquet which succeeded at that place the health of the Miner's Union was drank, and three groans were given the directors of the Savage mine.

HER DEFEAT.—The defeat of Molly Mc Carty by Tenbroeck at Louisville, is attributed to a heavy track, it being very muddy, and the extreme heat of the weather, so different from our climate. Although the contest told heavily on Mollie she quickly recovered after the race, but it is a fixed fact that it used up Tenbroeck, who will not appear on the track again in a race. Molly McCarty was sold to Budd Doble long before the race. The full amount for which she was sold is not known, but it is known that a check for $10,000 was passed to her owner, Winters.

The Nebraska Indians are now becoming troublesome. These Indian matinees will continue until the snow falls, and then they will return to their reservations, and be fattened by the Government during the Winter, so that they will be in good trim for fighting in the Spring, when our wise officials will supply them with Henry rifles and plenty of ammunition.

CONNECTED.—The Sutro tunnel connection with the Savage mine was completed at 10 o'clock on Monday night. Mr. Sutro was the first person that went through to the Savage incline. The event was duly celebrated by imbibing enormous quantities of lager, and by bonfires, etc.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO'S
SELECT LIST OF
LOCAL NEWSPAPERS

Many persons suppose this list to be composed of CHEAP, low-priced newspapers. The fact is quite otherwise. The Catalogue states exactly what the papers are. When the name of a paper is printed in FULL FACE TYPE it is in every instance the best paper in the place. When printed in CAPITALS it is the ONLY paper in the place. When printed in roman letters it is neither the best nor the only paper, but is usually a very good one, notwithstanding. The list gives the population of every town and the circulation of every paper. IT IS NOT A CO-OPERATIVE LIST. IT IS NOT A CHEAP LIST. At the foot of the Catalogue for each State the important towns which are not covered by the list are enumerated. IT IS AN HONEST LIST. The rates charged for advertising are barely one-fifth the publishers' schedule. The price for one inch four weeks in the entire list is $635. The regular rates of the papers for the same space and time are $3,136 35. The list includes 970 newspapers, of which 163 are issued DAILY and 807 WEEKLY. They are located in 825 different cities and towns, of which 22 are State Capitals, 328 places of over 5,000 population, and 444 County seats LISTS SENT ON APPLICATION. Address GEO. P. MECHANICS' STORE.

Notice to Dealers in General Merchandise.

Our Wholesale Establishment

OFFERS TO RETAIL DEALERS THE FOLLOWING LINES OF GOODS

Dry Goods, Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Hats, Caps, Yankee Notions, Fancy Goods, Furnishing Goods, Trunks and Valises.

We claim to offer the following advantages to dealers: Buying our goods from manufacturers and jobbers East, in very large quantities, we obtain the closest prices, and, as our expenses will be much lower in Sacramento than for a similar business in San Francisco we shall be enabled to UNDERSELL ALL COMPETITORS.

Our terms will be strictly net cash, and no discount.

No goods will be permitted to leave our house unless the full amount has been paid for under any circumstances.

We shall mark all our goods in plain figures and sell them at one price.

We will never deviate from our marked price, no matter how large the order will be. This will enable the poorest judge of goods to obtain as much for the money as the closest and sharpest buyer.

We shall sell goods wholesale to Dealers and Peddlers only. Orders for customers will be filled from our retail department only.

☞ We shall fill orders and answer all communications promptly to any part of California, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Idaho, Arizona, Colorado and Montana. Address all letters,

WEINSTOCK & LUBIN, Sacramento, Cal.
WHOLESALE DEPARTMENT.

IN OPENING OUT OUR WHOLESALE DEPARTMENT, WE ARE NOW ENABLED TO OFFER EXTRA INDUCEMENTS IN THE WAY OF PRICES,

In Our Retail Stores,

FOR THE REASON THAT,

As we are now buying for our Wholesale Department, we buy in original cases and bales, thus obtaining large trade discounts, which will enable us to

SELL GOODS LOWER THAN ANY OTHER HOUSE

ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

One item alone, our stores, Nos. 98, 100, 102, 104 and 106 K street, would cost at least $24,000 a year for rent in San Francisco. We have no such expenses, as WE OWN OUR STORE PROPERTY.

WE ARE PREPARED TO OFFER UNUSUAL INDUCEMENTS IN

Dry Goods, Boys' Clothing, Summer Goods, Boots, Shoes and Hats.

We are now importing our Laces, Linens, and Embroideries from manufacturers' agents direct, and we shall in all cases GIVE FULL VALUE FOR THE MONEY, not alone to those who are judges, but to those who are no judges.

As our prices are marked plainly on every article in the house, and we sell at one price only, it is strictly against the rules of our house to permit any of our employes to misrepresent any article offered for sale. Cotton is not sold for Union Linen, and Union Linen for pure linen; nor Satinet sold for Cassimere.

Any one in our employ who misrepresents any article is at once discharged, as we have found out by experience, that Principle, Duty and Policy are all in favor of

THE HOUSE THAT DEALS HONORABLY TOWARDS ALL!

☞ We shall continue, as heretofore, to fill all orders for any part of the Pacific coast, and persons in the interior can rest assured that their orders will receive prompt and careful attention.

☞ By our system of doing business, a person living hundreds of miles away can obtain as much for their money as one who applies personally to our store. All we want is a clear description of goods wanted, description of colors, sizes and proper address.

☞ We fill an order for twenty-five cents worth of goods with as much care as one for hundreds of dollars. Price List and Samples sent (free) to any part of the Pacific coast.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

DOUBLE ASSESSMENT.—Calaveras is infested with two species of "road agents"—one armed with a shotgun and the other with parchment, and, in this instance, they are alike. It was, under a false color of law, robbery to force collection of taxes by seizure of sheep, upon which an assessment had been levied in another county. It was in vain to state facts, and protest, and the taxes were paid. Make money, honestly, if you can, but make money is a religious duty of the county officials of Calaveras. The following was handed to us for publication:

SACRAMENTO, April 19, 1878.

The Board of Equalization met this day at the office of the Governor.

Full Board present.

A communication from F. M. West, County Treasurer of San Joaquin County, to the Attorney General, was referred to this Board for consideration, in which the following questions are asked:

"Several parties removing sheep, etc. from San Joaquin county to Alpine county for pasture, are compelled to pass through Calaveras county.

In one or two cases the parties have been compelled by storms to delay for a few days, and, in each case, the Assessor of Calaveras county assessed the parties and made them pay the taxes on their stock, by seizure, notwithstanding the fact that the Assessor of San Joaquin county had made returns to Alpine county in due form.

Has an Assessor any right, under such circumstances, to re-assess said stock and enforce the collection of the tax?

Secondly.—Can any Assessor make returns to two counties, for the same stock, if the parties so request?

Third.—Has any Assessor the right, or can stock, once assessed, be assessed a second time during the same year, except for violation of the law in connection therewith?

To the foregoing queries the Board instructed the Secretary to answer in the negative to each

Certified to be a full, true and correct copy of the minutes of the Board of Equalization relating to Migratory Stock, in answer to inquiries made by F. M. West, County Treasurer of San Joaquin county.

F. R. HOGEBOOM, Secretary."

ILLEGAL.—At the late election for Trustees of Franklin School District, R. H. Ford, N. Arnot, Jr, and H. C. Ginn were elected, but the ballots not designating the terms of service, the parties respectively drew one, two and three years. Mrs. Spencer, viewing these proceedings as irregular, sought advice from the Attorney General, and the following is the r s ons :

SACRAMENTO, July 6th, 1878.

MRS. A. L. SPENCER,
Co. Supt. of Schools.

DEAR MADAM:—
Yours of the 1st instant duly received.

In reply I would say that I can find no law authorizing Trustees of School Districts, who are elected without regard to terms, to cast lots for the different terms. The proper course would have been for each Trustee to have been elected for a term certain. I am inclined to the opinion that your election for Trustees was void; and the surest and safest way for you to proceed, is to appoint three Trustees to serve till the next election, when you can avoid the difficulty that you have got into this time.

Respectfully yours,
JO HAMILTON,
Attorney General.

In accordance with the above, Mrs. Spencer appointed R. H. Ford, N. D. Arnot, Jr. and P. W. Parker.

SHEEP.—During the past ten days sheep, belonging to the following parties, have arrived in Alpine Co.: From San Joaquin Co:—Charles Penniman, 5,000; — Hall, 6,000; Michael Higgins, 1,500; J. W. Johnson, 2,000. From Calaveras:— — Thompson, 1,500; E. B. McFarland, 8,100; P. J. Robinson, 1,800; George Gilmore, Bates, and Bisbie &Co., 3,000; Hiram Tyre, 4,000; Marcus Mc Cormack, 3,000; Stephen Sylvester, 3,000; — Burnham, 1,500. From Stauislaus,—Thomas Wheeler, 6,000; — Robey, 3,500. From Sacramento:— George Connor 3,000; From Amador:— Hiram Barden (Ione Grant) 4,000; Ione Grant, 3,000. These are pastured on the western slope. In addition to these, about 30,000 are ranging between Indian Valley and Woodfords. Total 90,900. Total, thus far, grazing in Alpine county, 120 500.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS.—No legal elections for school directors having been held Mrs. Anna L. Spencer, Superintendent, has appointed the following Trustees: Franklin (Silver Mountain) District—R. H. Ford, vice R. M. Folger, term expired; P. W. Parker, vice H. C. Ginn, term expired; N. D. Arnot, Jr., vice self. Everett (Monitor) District—Joseph Larson, vice self; Thos. Chambers, vice self. Lincoln (Woodfords) District—W. P. Merril, vice self; W. Clogston vice O. C. Wade, removed to Oregon.

PERSONAL.—N. D. Arnot, Jr. went to San Francisco on Tuesday on account of the serious illness of his father.

Mrs. A. C. Chambers, now residing at Lodi, San Joaquin county, passed through our town on Wednesday en route for Monitor, where she will spend the Summer with her mother, Mrs. Larson. Mrs. Chambers was warmly greeted by her Silver Mountain friends, who were pleased to see her in good health.

Judge Griffith went to San Francisco on Wednesday on professional business.

Professor Leander L. Hawkins, of the State University, favored us with a call to day.

PROBATE COURT.—This Court met on Tuesday last, and received application of Myron Young for letters of administration on Estate of Frank E. Young, deceased. The application was set for hearing on the 20th instant, to which date the Court adjourned.

LEACHING.—This process is being tested at the Advance Mill and the prospects are that it will be a success.—Ottokar Hoffman, of San Francisco, arrived on Wednesday last to assist Professor Jones in treating the sulphurets. Mr. Hoffman is the introducer of the "Leaching Process" in this county, and modifier of it to the adaptation of ores on this coast. He will remain here two weeks, and is sanguine that his work will prove satisfactory.

INDIAN BANQUET.—The Washoe tribe, having passed the Winter at the West Point, Calaveras county, reservation, returned to Alpine this week with a stock of acorns. They tarried a few days en route in Bear Valley, where they had a grand venison banquet on Monday.

FREIGHTING.—The first freight of the season from Stockton, over the Big Tree road, arrived here on the Fourth, having been brought through by William Simmons, who will run between here and Stockton during the Summer.

THE FLINT.—Superintendent Ray has commenced work on the Flint, at Monitor. It is his intention to get out about fifty tons to be worked by the concentration process at the Advance Mill.

ADVANCE.—Milling ore continues to be taken from this mine and the mill is steadily at work, and within the next two weeks the result of its workings will be known.

EXCURSIONISTS.—The Stevens-Brown party, of Virginia City, en route for the Big Trees and Yosemite, camped here last night. The party consists of three ladies and six gentlemen.

FRUIT TEAMS.—Fruit teams are coming in by way of the Big Trees road, but the variety of fruit brought is not great as yet.

ORGANIZED.—The Trustees of Franklin School District organized on Thursday last, and elected R. H. Ford Secretary.

IN FINE ORDER.—Harvey S. Blood has placed the Big Trees road in fine order.

WHERE IS SHE?—Who can tell the whereabouts of the "beautiful gold-plated lady minus a sleeve-button?"

PENNSYLVANIA.—The annual meeting of this Company will be held on the 19th of August.

WARM.—The weather this week has been warm, but not uncomfortably so.

THE DRIVE.—The wood drivers reached Young's Bridge last evening.

BANKRUPT LAWS.—The repeal of the national Bankrupt law, to take effect September 1, puts the question of bankruptcy back into the hands of the States, whence it was taken by Congress. The old State laws will be revived, or in many cases new ones are likely to be made to meet the emergency, as in Rhode Island, and the merchants in the trade-centres must familiarize themselves with the differing existing statutes throughout the country. Only twenty-five of the States and Territories have insolvency laws which will become operative, and there is little uniformity about their provisions. The twenty five are: California, Connecticut, Dakota, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, North Carolina, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Vermont and Wisconsin.

The Seattle girls are very sensitive about their alleged big feet, but we suppose they will give it up after this. One of them got married the other day, and the same night her husband, who is a Frisco fellow, woke up and saw a couple of burglars standing at the foot of the bed. He quietly slipped his revolver from under the pillow and fired at them. His wife sat up in bed with a terrible scream. He had blown off her big toe.—Seattle (W. T.) Dispatch.

Strong protests have been made against the Government buying any bullion not known to have come from American mines; but no notice has been taken of them, it being impossible for the Government to ascertain where there the particular bullion purchased comes from.

A Chinaman recently made application to Judge Choate, of the United States District Court, New York, to become a citizen. The Judge denied the application under the decision of Judge Sawyer, of the United States District Court of California, in the case of Ah Youp.

It has been decided to open the Mechanics' Fair on the 13th of August.

We hed the radikels in a vice from which they cood not escape. We hed charged fraud onto Hays and we hed bought up our witnesses. Ef Anderson wuzen't suffishent we cood hev hed just ez many more, quite ez credible, ez we wantid. Witnesses is cheap, and ez our witnesses wus willin to sware to anything we wantid, there wuzn't the slightest diffikilty in provin everything that wuz necessary. Then all that wuz wantin wuz to move on Hayes with an impeachment, and seat Tilden and Reform in his place, Then the Postoffices, the Custom-houses and the entire patronage uv the Fedrel Government wood hev come to us, and there wood hev bin that peace with-out wich there can't be no prosperity.

But what come uv it? Just ez this wuz all fixed Burchard introdoost a resolooshen declarin that the objick uv the investigashen wuzn't to disturb the title uv the President.

Dimocratic members voted for it and it wuz past. In the name of hevin what wuz it fur, then? For what did I go to Washington and spend my time and Tilden's money if it wuzn't to oust Hayes? Fur what wuz the eyes uv every Dimocrat which hez looked longingly on Postoffises and Custom houses these many years turned anxiously to Washington? Not to disturb his title? Why, that wus what we wanted, and all that we wantid. We wanted them places, wich we could only git thro Tilden, and wich so long ez Hayes sits there wuz not for us. Wat do I keer if Paul plants and Apollos waters if I don't git none uv the increes? The increes is wat I wuz after. I wantid days uv ease and nites of delite. I wantid conciliation and a offis. I wantid prosperity restored to the Corners by hevin the Government disburse more money, and to hev that money cirkelate among the proper people I wanted Bascom to prosper, and the Deekin's few last days to be contentid.

All this is lost by the pusilanimity uv the Dimocratic members. All this is gone. They don't want to disturb the President's title! The investigashen is now a farce. It is a circus without any ringmaster, clown or riders. It is a menagerie without any animals. The soul is gone out uv it. I can't live ez I hev bin, and the sooner I die the better. Dimocrasy ain't got no muscle nor much intelleck. It's flabby. It won't survive me long. PETROLEUM V. NASBY,

A Dramatic Divine.

Talmage, of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, treated his audience to a sensation, at his regular weekly lecture, on a recent Friday night. A reporter of the New York Star notes the incident:

Mr. Talmage then dwelt, in conclusion, on the form of observance in vogue in various countries on good Friday. He closed with a theatrical flourish that was quite startling.

"I desire that the lights be lowered in sympathy with the music," said he.

At this point one of the most dramatic scenes that ever occurred within the walls of a church was witnessed. The innumerable gas jets of the tabernacle faded away, and when the large audience was filled with excited expectance, in complete darkness, the awful silence was broken first by Mr. Talmage exclaiming: "There was darkness over the land until the ninth hour," and then the magnificent organ broke out with a most grand selection of music, typical of that solemn hour, in which could plainly be discerned the rolling of the thunders, the rending of the veil, and the wailing of the women. To a sensitive and excitable mind the moment was a great strain upon the nerves. So much was it that one young lady, in the midst of the music, fell into a dead faint, and was, after all attempts at restoration failed, carried out of the church in the arms of several gentlemen.

That paradise of invalids, Cannes, recognizing the fact that its celebrity as a watering place and its consequent prosperity were due to Lord Brougham, has decided to celebrate the centenary of his birth. According to the original arrangement the statue was to represent the city of Lyons, while the creator of the town was to be represented only by a bust standing on a pedestal, against which the municipal fetish was intended to lean. This design has been greatly modified. The Chancellor, draped in the folds of a traveling mantle, will be discovered leaning on a pedestal and pointing with the finger of his right hand to the soil which he chose to select as his residence. Near to him will be raised aloft the rose of England and under the shadow of the olive and palm branches which decorate the statue will be seen the British Lion, sculptured in hard stone.

A Boston man has a vest that Fanny Fern made with her own hands. And we will bet $100 that it never did and never will fit any man in this wide, wide world; and they can't tell by its shape whether it was intended for a fat woman or a lean man; for a man with a sway back, or a man with a hump on his back like a camel. Woman, heaven bless her, is the light of our homes, but when she attempts to make a man's vest the angels weep. And when she makes a pair of pantaloons for him the immortal gods just hold their sides and run away into the woods and roll on the grass and howl.—Hawkeye.

The London School Board has resolved to teach girls how to cook. One of the teachers is to give lessons in every Board school on food and its preparation, and the girls will be required to attend. Twenty-one kitchens are to be opened in London and each is to be conducted by a practical cook, with a salary of $300 a year. Small wages, certainly, if she is to be a good teacher as well as a good cook.

A Baltimore alderman, who had sat speechless at the meeting of the board for years, was aroused by frequent droves of cattle passing his house on Sunday, to this, his first oratorical effort: "Phwat I want to know, yer honor, is, are the payple of the Fourteenth ward to be trod upon by oxen of a Sunday morning? I move, be jabers, I guess not."

There is scarcely a better health-meter for men who think much, than sleep. Hard mental work is beginning to kill, when it interferes with sleep, and he who plies his brain with ever so much energy eight or ten hours a day, prays and plays five or six hours, and sleeps eight or nine, will never die of overwork.

"Minerva" sends us a poem in which the following lines occur; "I am sad and weary. My life is ebbing away."—Instead of sending the poem to us, she should have sent for a physician. Her liver needs repairing.—Norristown (Pa.) Herald.

Two American girls have scandalized pious Paris by fanning themselves in church. They were admonished to stop fanning or retire, and retired.

A married man in Newburg has invented an India rubber rolling pin that will roll out the dough very evenly, and yet bend to the head when it strikes.

A transaction that soots everybody—taking down the parlor stove for the season.

Paris has over 75,000 houses. Think of that when you go to the exposition and want to hunt up John Smith.

THE EASIEST SELLING, THE BEST SATISFYING

Sewing Machine

Its introduction and World-renowned reputation was the death-blow to high-priced machines.

THERE ARE NO SECOND-HAND WHITE MACHINES IN THE MARKET.

This is a very important matter, as it is a well-known and undisputed fact that many of the so-called first-class machines which are offered so cheap now-a-days are those that have been repossessed (that is, taken back from customers after use) and rebuilt and put upon the market as new.

THE WHITE IS THE PEER OF ANY SEWING MACHINE NOW UPON THE MARKET.

IT IS MUCH LARGER THAN THE FAMILY MACHINES OF THE SINGER, HOWE AND WEED MAKE.

IT COSTS MORE TO MANUFACTURE THAN EITHER OF THE AFORESAID MACHINES.

ITS CONSTRUCTION IS SIMPLE, POSITIVE AND DURABLE.

ITS WORKMANSHIP IS UNSURPASSED.
